DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

357 High St. is a frame 21 storey which has been altered to accomodate offices. The roof has a relatively steep pitch and is of composition materials.

The High St. facade is 3 bays wide with \nearrow 9/6 double hung windows on the second floor. The first floor has a central door flanked by two large bay type windows. The cornice and window surrounds are of the 19th century su gesting alterations. Both the east and west sides are on high stone foundations. The east side has an exposed brick chimney above the level of the second floor and then rising above the peak of the roof. On the first floor east side are two 6/6 double hung windows and on the second floor rear is another. The west side has one 9/6 double hung window off center, nearer to the front, on the west side and a smaller 6/6 double hung window again off center in the peak of the gable.

The south side of the rear wing which was damaged by fire and has been completely clapboarded over also had an exposed chimney breast. The chimney has also been cropped at the roof.

This is an old form of a dwelling which has been resheathed and redecorated in the 19th century.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

357 High St. is an example of a late 18th century tall dwelling which was resheathed and a bit redecorated in the 19th century. By looking at the stone foundation and the windows on the second floor, plus the exposed chimney breast one can see the form of a much earlier house than it now appears. The second floor interior has very wide pine floors and is now an apartment while the first floor houses offices.
